

June 2010 Newsletter

designed for playing outdoors

It's June, it's nearly Wimbledon, it's the World Cup and it's raining!

It's also time to start looking forward to spring /summer 2011. The trade season gets into full swing next week and KoziKidz' first outing will be Bubble London, at the Business Design Centre in Islington on June 20th & 21st. The climate has been tough recently both economically and weather-wise.

There are however some upsides! The "Staycation" looks like it is here to stay which means families need to be kitted out for the British weather both for rainy days and chilly evenings (and of course we hope a little sunshine in-between).

KoziKidz has been going from strength to strength, since launching in 2008, both at home and abroad and we are thrilled to be presenting our 5th collection ready for spring/summer 2011. Fingers crossed that England does well, according to all the economists success at the World Cup bodes well for the future!
